He looked so tough boiling his careass tender enough to eat. We were out of rations and hungry. My mess got sight of that old rooster, whose comb had been worn down by the storms of many years, and bore a slight impress of the initials B. C. We were driven to desperation by the cravings of our hungry stomachs, and in a few moments we had him dressed and in a campkettle, boiling furiously, with a large pile of fagots collected. We were to sit up all night, by turns, and keep the fire fa . My turn came to fire under him four o'clock a.m. I kept him boilfor over au hour, when sleep over-

I merely make this statement to corroborate the duck-shooter's yarn. Captains Hawkins was with me ou that occasion, and can vonch for me, if any doubt that Virginia fowls are tough .-

The Revenues of Our Government. The revenues of the Federal Government from customs and miscellaneous sources come within about $35,000,000 of meeting current expenses, including, of course, payment of interest on the public debt and payments on account of peusions. The Government realizes about $135,000,000 from internal taxes, and with the $100,000,000 surplus makes payments on account of the public debt. If the present rate of taxation should continue twelve years, and the country meantime be spared the expense and disturbance of war, the National debt would be actually paid, as the money would be at the disposal of the Government to make such payments. This condition of affairs has led to the suggestion in some quarters that the Gov ernment might relinquish this resource of internal taxation to the States, and make up any deficiency in revenues that might arise from a tax on tea and coffee, which were placed upon the free list several years ago. The remission of the taxes on spirits and tobacco, however, is Jemima; it's all because they're too not generally regarded with favor.

It is not pretended that any of the purposes which were intended by the fathers of the Republic in creating the Electoral College, have been fulfilled. Instead of Presidential Electors exercising a sound and patriotic discretion in the choice of a President and Vice President, our Presidential Electors are the mere puppets of party, and it would now cost any one his life if he were to exereise his own discretion, however just and patriotic, and thereby elect a licesident against the wishes of his party The Electorial College system is, therefore, a useless and dangerons circum locution, and it is the duty of the best statesmanship of all parties to unite for its overthrow.

At No. 835 Eleventh avenue, officers of the Society found Michael and Alice

The children, aged six years, two and a half years and six months, were wallowing in vomits and exercments, and were all starving. The little child of two and a half years was totally blind. The baby shortly died, the other two were eared for in public institutions, and the unnatural parents were sent six months to the Penitentiary. The Society rescued a little girl only eight years old, whom a man named Geo. Walker was in the act of abducting. The girl was restored to her parents, and the kidnapper punished.

Four children, Mamie, John, William and James, aged respectively thirteen, ten, seven und six years, were rescued from their parents, Thomas and Catherine Wilson, who occupied a hut in a New York locality known as "Hell's Kitchen," and who have since been sent to the Penltentiary for highway robbery. THAT RICH EXPERIENCE.

A Free Press Interview Sustained and Its Source Revealed. [Petroit Free Press.]

A few months ago an interview with a prem inent and well known physician, formerly a resident of Detroit, but now living in New York, appeared in the columns of this paper. The statements made by the doctor and the facts he divulged were of so unusual a nature as canse no little commotion smong those who read them, and many inquiries were raised as to the geumineness of the interview and the validity of the statements it contained. The name of the physician was at that time suppressed at his own request. The seal of secrecy however, can now be removed, as the important and interesting letter which appears below will abundantly show. In order, however, that the reader may better understand this letter, a few extracts are herewith given from the intervie

After au exchange of conrtesies and a few eminiscences about the war, in which the doctor was a prominent surgeon, the reporter remarked upon the doctor's improved appearance, upon which he said : 'Yes, I have improved in health since you last saw me, and I hope also in many othe ways. One thing, however, I have succeeded i doing, and it is one of the hardest things for any one, and especially a doctor, to do, and that is I have overcome my prejudices. You know there are some people who prefer to remain in the wrong rather than acknowledge the manifest right. Such prejudice leads to bigotry of the worst order. New, I am a phy sician, and of the 'old school' order, too; bu I have, after years of experience and observe ion, come to the conclusion that truth is the lighest of all things, and that if prejudice of bigotry stand in the way of truth, so much the worse for them—they are certain to be crushed seoner or later. Why, when I knew you Detroit, I would no sooner have thought violating the code of ethics laid down by th profession, or of prescribing anything out of the regular order, than I would of amputating my hand. Now, however, I prescribe and advise these things which I believe to be adapted to cure, and which my experience has How did you come to get such heretical "Oh, they are the result of my experience and observation. I obtained my first ideas upon the subject, though, from having been cured after my care and all the skill of my professional brethren had failed to relieve me. Why, I was as badly off as many of my patients, with a complication of troubles, including dyspepsia, and consequently imperfect kidneys and liver, and I feared I should have to give up my practice. For months I suffered untold agomes. Dull, indefinite pains in various parts of the body; a lack of interest in everything around no; a less of appetito: headaches; all these heagreeable symptoms were added to pain which were both acute and constant. Sick as I was, however, I became restored to health in a most surprising manner and in an incredible short space of time, and it was this that prove a revelation to me. That was the starting poin and my prejudices faded rapidly after that I can assure you. I went to reading extensively and analyzing more extensively, and since that time I have discovered many things of real value to humanity. Why only a few days ago advised a lady who was suffering from serious female difficulty and displacement to use the same remedy which cured me. I saw her this merning and she is nearly well; the pain and inflammation are all gone and she is around as usual. We have no right in the medical fraternity to sit back and declare there is no such thing as improvement or advance-ment, or that we have a monopoly of the revedies which nature has given to mankind. There are great changes going on in every department of life, and there are great developments in medicine as well. Thousands of people die every year from supposed typhoid fever, rheumatism or other complaints, when in reality it is from triching, caused by eating poorly cooked and sitates have much to do with maintaining lying every year from dropsy as the apparent sequel to scarlatins, when in reality it is from by the fever they have just had. "Well, doctor, you have got some new truths here, certainly, but they sound very tion of the golden rule and good manners

Well, whether they are reasonable or not, I have demonstrated to my own satisfaction that they are true, and I propose to stand by them, no matter how much opposition I may raise by doing so. hahed in full: Editor Detroit Free Press: Some time ago a reporter of your paper had an interview with me which he said he would like to unblish. I consented on condition that you would not mention my name until I gave you permission. I have now accomplished tho purpose I had in mind, and wish to say to you (which you can publish or not as you see iit) that I had debated for a long time whether I would shake off some of the professional fetters which bound me with others for years, and tell the truth, or not. When I looked back, and thought of the tortures, like those described by Dante in his trip to the infernal regions, which I endured from dyspepsia, and recalled how much I would have given at that time for the relief which I have since obtained, I determined that I would take the step so long meditated, and thereby discharge a duty to my fellow men If I could thereby save one poor mortal one night of the terrible suffering I endured, I would be fully satisfied, be the other consequences what they might.

My dyspepsic condition was produced by a torpld liver, which did not, as a consequence, remove the hile from the blood. This produced derangement of the stomach, inflammation of its coats, dyspepsia, constipation, hesdache, depression of spirits, yellow com-plexion, fat-covered eyes, chills and fever; in short, I was miserable to the last degree. appealed in vain to my books, to my skill and o my fellew physiciaus. I emphatically declined. But secretly, and with the firm deternination that I would never let anybody know what I had done, I began its use. It was only an experiment, you know, but for that matter, all medical treatment is experimental. Well, o make a long, and surprising story short. I experienced a sort of physical revolution. skin got a better color. My liver resumed its functions. I no longer had to aronse the lowels with eathartics. My headaches disappeared with my dyspepsia; but still I was not convinced. "Nature did it," I reasoned. But, determined to push the investigation to the extreme, while I was in active work, I tried the effect of the remedy on my patients afflicted with kidney, liver and urinary diseases, watching every development carefully and studiously. Then I was completely disarmed, for the remedy

Under such convincing circumstances, the matter of confessing my cure became a question of conscience and of duty to humanity.

Here is a remedy," I said, "that has done for what the best med cal skill of the country could not accomplish"—and as an honorable man I will not suppress the facts. I therefore write you and most unbesitatingly assert that for all diseases of the kidneys, liver, stomach or nrinary organs which are amenable to treatment, Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure enrpasses any remedy I have ever known or nsed, and since physicians have so much ill-success in the treatment of diseases of these organs, I am prepared to accept all the consequences when I say that they are, if conscieutious, in duty bound to use this pure vegetable compound in their practice.

Statements so ontspoken as the above and oming from such a reliable source, are valuable beyond question. They couclusively show not only the power of the remedy which has become so well known and popular, but the great importance of attention in time to the first indications of declining health. When professional men of such high standing sink their prejudice and willingly declare their belief in that which they know to be valuable, the public may

Of this sum the serfs had to give immediately 20 per cent., while the remaining 80 per cent. was disbursed as an advance by the government to the owners, to be repaid, at intervals extending over forty-nine years, by the freed peasants. According to an official report the whole of these arrangements were completed at the end of July, 1865, so that from this date seridom ceased to exist in Russia.

A new use for sorghum seed has been discovered. Glucose can be prepared from it as well as from corn, and it is estimated that 1,250 pounds can be made from the seed grown on one acre. It is thought the discovery will, by the added profits arising from the sale of the glucose, make the culture of sorghum for sugar a profitable husiness.

WEATHER--OR NOT.

We admire the philosophy of the unfortunate man, who, when everything had been swept away, said, "Well, there'll be weather and taxes left, at any rate." Alasi weather is the "yellow dog" of all subjects; everyone thinks it his special right to try to better the weather, and hurls his anathemas against "Old Probabilities," and all who endeavor to assist him in regulating the weather. The following communication is from Prof. Tice, of St. Louis, Mo., the renowned meteorologist and weather prophet of the West. It does not discuss the weather but something surely of more importance to those who suffer with that painful malady he speaks of: "The day after concluding my lectures at Burlington, cold, clammy sweat covered my entire body. The attending physician could do nothing to relieve me. After suffering for three hours. I thought—as I had been using St. Jacoba Oll with good effect for rheumantle natus—I would try it. I saturated a piece of flanuel, large enough to cover my chest, with the Oil, and appliedlt. The relief was almost instantaneous. In one hour I was entirely free from pain, and would have taken the train to fill an appointment that night in a neighboring town, had my friends not dis-
